Strategic fuel reserves

The Board reiterates its previous recommendation that the Administration ensure that all missions take steps to maintain the strategic fuel reserve (para. 244)	UNAMID established a fuel storage and dispensing point and established storage capacity that maintains adequate strategic fuel reserves for mission emergency requirements

Aviation budget

The Board recommends that the Administration ensure that all missions address the underutilization of budgeted flying hours (para. 275)	UNAMID has experienced the underutilization of budgeted flying hours, which was attributed primarily to safety and security factors and flight restrictions imposed by the Government of the Sudan UNAMID has taken a number of steps to reduce the underutilization of its budgeted flying hours, including withdrawing two aircraft from the Operation and engaging the Sudanese Civil Aviation Authority and the Government of the Sudan to lift restrictions on flying time

Signature in air cargo manifests

The Board recommends that the Administration ensure that UNAMID sign all air cargo manifests, as required by the standard operating procedures of the Movement Control Unit (para. 295)	UNAMID noted isolated occurrences in which some air cargo manifests from remote team sites were not signed as the Movement Control Section did not have personnel to enforce compliance as required by the standard operating procedures. However, the Movement Control Section had an agreement with the military to designate military liaison officers in remote team sites to be responsible for signing the air cargo manifests on behalf of the Section and forward the signed original to the office. This has been working effectively and ensures compliance with the established procedures

Quick-impact projects: project implementation

The Board reiterates the previous recommendation that the Administration ensure that all missions take appropriate measures to ensure that quick-impact projects are completed within the specified time frames (para. 363)	UNAMID is aware of the delay in implementing quick-impact projects and its ramifications on the ground. The Operation encountered numerous obstacles, including unpredictable security situations, inadequate capacity of the implementing partners and the slowing down of the process of recruiting international staff, which drastically slowed the implementation of the projects. UNAMID, however, has taken a number of steps to surmount these difficulties or at least to help to speed up the implementation of the projects. The Civil Affairs Division developed standard operating procedures which allow the United Nations police and the military to be more involved in the monitoring of quick-impact projects in areas not accessible to civil affairs personnel owing to the security conditions. To complement the capacity of the implementing partners, UNAMID forged a partnership relationship with the international and local NGOs in the field to help in logistics management and monitoring of the project and has since helped to speed up the implementation of the projects and has generated greater enthusiasm on the part of the beneficiaries in embracing the development efforts of the quick-impact projects team. With these measures in place, the Operation is confident of achieving speedy implementation of the projects

D. Office of Internal Oversight Services

(A/64/326 (Part II))

Request/recommendation	Action taken to implement request/recommendation
In an audit of the management of a multifunction logistics services contract (AP2008/634/03) in UNAMID, OIOS found that the contract was poorly managed owing to a lack of preparedness by both the Operation and the contractor. In particular, OIOS found that because of difficulties in attracting qualified candidates to work in the Operation area of operations, inadequate numbers of staff were deployed. The contractor also delayed the deployment of its personnel for the project. Moreover, OIOS noted delays in establishing a Senior Management Review Board and that the required standard operating procedures were not finalized as a result of inadequate staffing levels. OIOS noted the ongoing efforts of the Operation and the Department of Field Support to strengthen the contract management function (para. 31)	UNAMID has numerous difficulties in attracting qualified personnel to take up mission appointments, which has been attributed primarily to harsh living conditions, including isolation in Darfur, a volatile security environment and a lack of social amenities. UNAMID has taken a number of steps to help address the situation, including outreach activities, proposed additional financial incentives for staff retention and improved social amenities in the Operation
In an audit of safety and security operations, OIOS found that security precautions and preparations were not commensurate with the risks associated with the Operation's operating environment, largely attributed to limited implementation of security recommendations. OIOS recommended that urgent measures be taken to enhance staff security (para. 39)	UNAMID has taken a number of steps aimed at improving the safety and security of its personnel. As part of raising the security and safety awareness of the Operation's personnel, all the newly deployed civilians, military observers and United Nations police officers undergo mandatory security induction training, primary fire training/drill as well as basic firefighting to enable a better understanding of the mission's operating environment. UNAMID also ensures that all the civilian, military observers and United Nations police personnel comply with the minimum operating residential security standards, and have trained residential security guards. In addition, UNAMID enforces compliance with the curfew timing of no movement of vehicles after 1900 hours without escort. Further security and safety measures adopted include regular patrols by personnel of the formed police units and the Government of the Sudan police; reinforcing

	all the key mission installations in compliance with the minimum security standard and providing regular updates to the Operation's personnel on the security situation on the ground
As a result of deficiencies discovered in self-sustainment of the medical facilities of troop- and police-contributing countries, UNAMID should take over the purchase of medical supplies until adequate medical facilities are maintained on a self-sustainment basis (para. 72)	The Operation evaluated the issue of deficiencies in self-sustainment of the medical facilities of the troop- and police-contributing countries and agreed to provide medical supplies to them upon request. UNAMID will recover the cost of medical supplies and associated costs. This has greatly enhanced and improved the operational efficiency of the medical facilities

Annex I

Definitions

A. Terminology related to proposed changes in human resources

The following terminology has been applied with respect to proposed changes in human resources (see sect. I of the present report):

- Post establishment: a new post is proposed to be established when additional resources are necessary and when it is not possible to redeploy resources from other offices or otherwise accommodate specific activities from within existing resources
- Post reassignment: an approved post that was intended to cover a certain function is proposed to implement other priority mandated activities unrelated to the original function. While a post reassignment may involve a change of location or office, it does not change the category or level of the post
- Post redeployment: an approved post is proposed to be redeployed to cover comparable or related functions in another office
- Post reclassification: an approved post is proposed to be reclassified (upgraded or downgraded) when the duties and responsibilities of the post have changed substantially
- Post abolishment: an approved post is proposed to be abolished if it is no longer needed to implement the activities for which it was approved or to implement other priority mandated activities within the Operation
- Post conversion: three possible options for post conversion are as follows:
  - Conversion of general temporary assistance positions to posts: approved positions financed under general temporary assistance are proposed for conversion to posts if the functions being performed are of a continuing nature
  - Conversion of individual contractors or individuals on procurement contracts to national staff posts: taking into account the continuing nature of certain functions, in line with section VIII, paragraph 11, of General Assembly resolution 59/296, individual contractors or individuals on procurement contracts are proposed for conversion to national staff posts
  - Conversion of international staff posts to national staff posts: approved international staff posts are proposed for conversion to national staff posts

B. Terminology related to variance analysis

Section III of the present report indicates the single largest contributing factor of each resource variance according to specific standard options encompassed in the four standard categories listed below:

- Mandate: variances caused by changes in the scale or scope of the mandate, or changes in the expected accomplishments as driven by the mandate

- External: variances caused by parties or situations external to the United Nations
- Cost parameters: variances caused by United Nations regulations, rules and policies
- Management: variances caused by management actions to achieve planned results more effectively (e.g., by reprioritizing or adding certain outputs) or efficiently (e.g., by taking measures to reduce personnel or operational inputs while maintaining the same level of outputs) and/or from performance-related issues (e.g., by having underestimated the costs or quantities of inputs required to produce a certain level of outputs, or by delayed recruitment)
